

INHALA

TO MOTHER EARTH WE BOW.
THE INHALA TRIBE

Inhala comes from the mystical land of Peru. Inhala – ‘to inhale’ in English, opens the initial doorway connecting mind, body and soul. Born as an eco-driven and mindful soulwear for all beautiful goddesses attuned to Mother Earth. We combine the highest quality of recycled & organic fabrics, creative designs, and artistic prints with care and love.

In our commitment to conscious production, we trace our supply chain in full to ensure that we have a positive impact on society and the environment. Our materials help alleviate ocean plastic pollution by a regeneration process that brings waste into high quality UV protection nylon fabrics and we only work with fair trade and locally sourced Peruvian organic cotton.

Inhala Soulwear follows the slow-fashion movement and produces limited capsule collections in certified workshops and collaborates with different artists – photographers and painters around the world to support and showcase their art through our fabrics.

At Inhala, we are always looking for innovative ideas on how to support our mission, this season we have established a zero-waste program by upcycling all excess fabric and kickstarted the creation of a complimentary product line made from such waste, hopefully to be launched by the end of this year 2020!

Since day one, Inhala Soulwear has a no-plastic commitment, we pack all our products in home compostable garment bags and reusable totes, made from organic and recycled pulp. Moreover, at Inhala, we have introduced “plantable” hang-tags made from bio-contributing materials with a basil seed to gift our customers and give them the opportunity to grow their own plant at home. We have also launched an initiative for our customers to directly offset their online purchase by planting trees at check-out.

We understand the fashion industry is full of trade-offs and reaching 100% sustainability is hard to accomplish but we believe there are always new ways to innovate, consume more consciously, preserve more and produce less waste. At Inhala we are committed to our environment, while simultaneously creating a product that all yoginis around the world can enjoy guilt-free.
